

To whom it may concern,

I believe that the coding challenge below illustrates why I am a great fit at Viacom for the web developer role.

let mySkills = ["javascript", "ES6", "React", "Yarn", "Express.js", "Node.js", "NPM", "Babel",
"SQL", "Mongo", "html", "css", "much more"];
let qualified = true;
let ME = "Kevin Kane";
let yourTeam = "Viacom";
if (qualified){
  yourTeam += ME;

In all seriousness though, I would love to get a chance to talk more about this position. It is hard to convey my passion for web development in a cover letter, but I can assure you that I eat, sleep, and breathe code. This role is perfect for me because I love working with full-stack technologies. I know that I don't technically have the years of professional experience that you desire, but I can assure you that I have an unparalleled desire to learn and grow and as a developer. Not only do I have the programming skills, but my unique background will help make me a strong communicator and dependable member of the Viacom team. Thank you again and I look forward to next steps.

Best,

Kevin Kane
